

AN ADDRESS FROM BLAINE.

He Reviews the Course of the Republican Party.

Ex-Senator Blaine delivered an address at Portland, Maine, Tuesday night in presence of a large and enthusiastic audience. The speech was mostly devoted to State politics. Mr. Blaine eulogized the Republican party as follows: "This country to-night, from ocean to ocean, from lake to gulf, presents a degree of prosperity more widespread, more general, more firmly based and founded than ever before in its history. Now, I do not say that legislation has brought about all that, but legislation has aided it, and certainly has not hindered it. If you wait for a law to grow crops, or to spin cotton, or to forge iron and steel, you will wait for a long time; but if you feel that law is behind you and above you and around you, protecting and encouraging you, you raise crops and spin cotton and forge steel with a good deal more assurance of good prices and fair market. And all that law should do, and all that a wise administration of the law has been able to effect, can be claimed by the Republican party without a division of the honor with any other party of the country. [Loud applause.] For twenty-one years past last March the destiny of the United States of America, in so far as that destiny can be controlled by a political party, has been in the keeping of the Republican party of the United States; and if there be a greater chapter of history written in the annals of human kind, I would like for Governor Planted, or any other gentleman supporting him, to be kind enough to point it out. If there be any chapter of history in which human progress has been so rapid, in which human rights have been guaranteed so firmly and enlarged so grandly as within that period, I am ignorant of where to look for it or where to find it.

And now, at the end of twenty-one years, in the blessed year of 1882, we find an opposition made up of two or three parties. What do they propose to do? Nothing. The positive measures, the aggressive policies, the definition of the line and the metes and bounds of legislation have all been taken and prescribed by the Republican party. Outside of it we have had objections, and cavil, and quibble, and slander, and all manner of dishonorable criticisms following as camp-followers after a great procession that has gone ahead, but I challenge any gentleman to show that in the whole of these twenty-one years the Democratic party and its various side issues, such as Greenback and Labor and other organizations, has ever proposed a measure that was able to be materialized in the form of a bill or resolution of the Congress of the United States, for the amelioration of human weal, or for the advancement of any public good. [Applause.] Whatever may be said of the Republican party—and that any party could be in power twenty-one years and not make mistakes would be absurd; that a party could have millions of people and not have a dishonest man among them would be absurd—but whatever may be said of the Republican party, there is one thing that can never be truthfully said: It never can be said that it was not a brave party. It never can be said that it had a drop of coward's blood in its whole organization. [Applause.]

Never, when that institution that represented five thousand million dollars, increased in the prejudices of two centuries, and representing the labor element of fifteen States and thirteen million people, stood in the way of the Union. The Republican party met it with the sword of justice and it was not. [Loud applause.] And never, from that hour to this, never in any crisis that in these full twenty-one years of the Republican party's majority, never in one case has it been unwilling or unable or afraid to take the responsibility. And, gentlemen, you prate of the South, and of the wrongs done to it. Why, since Maine was a State—aye, identically, since Maine was a State—the date serves me precisely, coming in on top of the great Missouri compromise, that first wide and deep agitation of the slavery question—never, from that hour to this, in the sixty-two years that have intervened, has the feeling between North and South been as cordial and as fraternal as it is to-night." [Applause.]

The Lander County Democratic Central Committee has rescinded its action of appointing and instructing delegates for Adams, and has issued a call for a primary election to be held Sept. 1st.

In its eagerness for the spoils the Democracy of Nevada is divided against itself.

A MONOPOLY MOVE.

The Central Pacific Working to Get a Through Line.

A story is published in Boston that several prominent railroad men who are interested in both roads are disposed to look favorably upon a new plan for the solution of the Colorado difficulties. This is the consolidation of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad with the Central Pacific. Under such a plan the Burlington could stop where they now are in Colorado, and only be obliged to build through to the Central Pacific. The Union Pacific would thus be completely left out in the cold as far as San Francisco business is concerned. The completion of their Oregon short line, however, might help them somewhat in the Northwest. The Atchafalaya is already provided for, owing to the kindly intervention of Gould and Huntington, some months since, when they secured the controlling interest in the St. Louis and San Francisco. The only parties then who would stand in the way of the old Pacific syndicate, who have held such a strong monopoly for so many years past, are Villard and the Northern Pacific people. Considering the above points, and bearing in mind the fact that but little water has as yet been infused into the Central Pacific, and that its intrinsic worth is very great, such a consolidation as the one suggested with the Burlington appears not only reasonable, but perfectly practicable. The consolidation of these two large corporations would make the strongest and most powerful railroad monopoly in the country, virtually controlling all railroad traffic from San Francisco to Chicago.

The Washoe delegation will present the name of W. F. Berry for Lieutenant-Governor on the Democratic State ticket. Mr. Berry's name would add strength to the ticket in this section. The JOURNAL hopes he will be nominated. Washoe is entitled to a good place on the ticket.

The Carson Appeal says that it is authorized to state that Hon. Wm. Woodburn will submit his name before the Republican State Convention for the gubernatorial nomination.

A regular Kilkenny cat fight is in progress among the Democrats of Storey.

CONTRACTS IN LIFE.

Ned Stokes' bar, it is said, takes in from $200 to $300 per day (or rather night) as it is patronized by a crowd of fast fellows who drink nothing but high-priced liquors. A dinner at Delmonico's or Fenard's can be had from $5 to $40 per guest, according to the bill of fare and the wine list. A number of dinner parties have been given the past season in the Fifth avenue in which $200 were expended in flowers alone. How easy to pay such bills when one's income is $1,000 per day, and this is not a large figure among our capitalists. But just look at the other side of social life. Four women were arraigned in the police court for selling vegetables and matches in baskets in the streets. One of the number said she was a widow with two children and this was their only means of support. The magistrate replied that as it was a violation of the law, he was obliged to fine them $10 apiece, and as they were conveyed to prison one of them fainted. Such contracts may be found daily. Specimens of incomes, Moses Taylor was rated at $400,000 a year. He had no sons and his daughters were all married. Ex-Governor Morgan is estimated at $500,000 a year. Russell Sage is rated at a million to a million and a half, while Jay Gould's income cannot be less than half a dozen millions. To come down to smaller men, L. R. Stewart has nearly a million a year, while Robert and Ogden Goulet are each rated at $250,000. Bennett is reckoned at $600,000. D. O. Mills figures at $200,000, and the young Vanderbilts (William K. and Cornelius) are not much below him. The estate of A. T. Stewart & Co., has an income of a million, which renders Cornelia Stewart the richest widow in America. The Astors (Jacob and William) are estimated each at a million and a half, while William H. Vanderbilt probably has five times that sum; and yet within five minutes' walk from the place where these men live one can find multitude whose life is but a prolonged outlay with failure. [N. Y. The New Postal.

The new message card, which is recommended by the House and Senate Committees, will undoubtedly replace the open card now in use. Its advantage is the flexible flap that conceals the message and secures the privacy desired. It is said that it can be furnished the government as cheaply as the open card, and if adopted it would give the public convenience, privacy and cheapness of postage combined. When the open card was adopted members of Congress objected to it on the ground that it would afford opportunity for libelous attacks, and a man wishing to ignore his neighbor could write a libelous charge and send it on the postal card. This would, or could, be read by the employees of the Postoffice, the carriers, and the servants of the household. It is urged that however unimportant the communication, most persons prefer their postals should be read only by those for whom they are intended. Many business houses will not notice the postal card and never use them. It is said that this new card would be of advantage to business men, and to all persons having a large correspondence.

VOLCANOE'S STRENGTH.

Cotopaxi, in 1838, threw its fiery rocks 3,000 feet above the crater. While in 1854 the blazing mass struggling for an outlet, roared so that its awful voice was heard at a distance of more than 800 miles. In 1877, the crater of Tungurahua, one of the great peaks of the Andes, fung out torrents of mud which dammed up the rivers, opened new lakes, and in valleys 1,000 feet wide made deposits 600 feet deep. The stream from Vesuvius, which in 1837 passed through Torre del Greco, contained 32,000 cubic feet of solid matter, and in 1703, when Torre del Greco was destroyed a second time, the mass of lava amounted to 44,000,000 cubic feet. In 1760 Etna poured forth a flood which covered eighty-four square miles of surface and measured nearly 1,000,000,000 cubic feet. On this occasion the sand and scoria formed the Monte Tomai, near Nicholosa, a cone two miles in circumference and 4,000 feet high. The stream thrown out by Etna in 1816 was in motion at the rate of a yard a day for nine months after the eruption; and it is on record that the lava of the same mountain, after a terrible eruption, was not thoroughly cool and consolidated ten years after the event. In the eruption of Vesuvius, A. D. 79, the scoria and ashes vomited forth far exceeded the entire bulk of the mountain; while in 1680 Etna disgorged twenty times its own mass. Vesuvius has sent its ashes as far as Constantinople, Syria and Egypt; it hurled stones eight pounds in weight to Pompeii, a distance of six miles, while similar masses were tossed up 2,000 feet above the summit. Cotopaxi has projected a block 409 cubic yards in volume a distance of nine miles; and Sumbawa, in 1815, during the most terrible eruption on record, sent its ashes as far as Java, a distance of three hundred miles.—Popular Science Monthly.

Excellent Shooting.

The match shooting spirit is spreading among the boys, and every day a party of them go down to the range to practice or wager on their skill. Yesterday morning a number went out, and at a distance of two hundred yards shot at a two foot target with a four inch bullseye. They did some excellent shooting under the circumstances, each firing five shots, twenty-five being the highest possible score. Following is the record: Seymour Bryant 18, E. L. Bridges 21, W. H. Moger 19, Scott Lake 20, and Dusan Chirrich 22.

The Pot Commencing to Boil.

The political cauldron is beginning to show signs of coming to a boil, and delegates or their proxies are already commencing to loom up above the horizon, with all sail set for Reno. Quite a number of delegates to the coming convention have already engaged rooms ahead at the Lake House and other hotels. Inside of a couple of days the political pot will be boiling furiously, in a style that would put Moberly's witches cauldron to seething shame.

A Correction.

The marksmen last Sunday at the range, shot only five shots instead of ten, as stated Tuesday morning. It has been their habit hitherto to shoot ten shots apiece, which was the cause of the error. Instead therefore of a possible fifty, twenty-five was the highest possible score.

Complaints Lost.

Charley Becker has in his custody a large roll of blank complaints for the Virginia City Justice Court, Township No. 1, when some stranger evidently has lost in Reno. They can be obtained by calling at the Washoe Brewery.

The Contempt Case.

The contempt case of Kelley vs. Sullivan has been finally argued and submitted before Judge King in chambers, and the case held by him for decision.

THE CARSON FOOTPRINTS.

An Interesting Paper by Professor Le Conte—Various Theories Discussed—The Conclusion Reached.

A special meeting of the San Francisco Academy of Sciences was held last Monday evening to listen to a scientific paper by Professor Joseph Le Conte on "The Carson Footprints," which had been the subject of discussion of a former meeting of the Academy, when it was treated by Dr. H. W. Harkness. The investigations of Professor Le Conte lead him to believe that the layer of sandstone in which the footprints are preserved are of river flood deposit and mark the site of the mouth of an ancient river. The evidence as to the age of the strata was too slight to arrive at any definite conclusions, but the mammoth tracks and the prints of human feet, if such they are, he believed were of the quaternary period, but at all events were not earlier than the upper pliocene period. In the quarry at Carson where the footprints were discovered, many fossil remains have been found. Among these are fragments of the tusks and molars of an elephant and the bones and teeth of two species of horse. During the quaternary period two great herds of elephants roamed over the American continent, and in several portions in the yard of the Prison at Carson were elephant tracks. The impressions are shallow, two inches deep, very irregular and uncertain in outline. A blast in the quarry revealed a more distinct track, the hind foot overstepping the front. No toe marks were visible in these footprints. The supposed human tracks are very numerous, several hundred in number, and any one who sees these cannot fail to be struck with their remarkable resemblance to human tracks, but there are several peculiarities which raise a doubt as to their origin. Professor Le Conte then described the peculiarities referred to, referring especially to the great size of the impressions and to the wide straddle. He thought that the great size of the tracks could be due only to some sort of covering for the feet in case they were made by human beings. Prehistoric man was no larger than modern man. The theory that the feet were shod with sandals was discussed, but the most serious difficulty he thought was the straddle, or the distance between the feet. This peculiarity in the tracks could hardly be reconciled with the theory that the impressions were made by an animal was so difficult to establish. In this view, the tracks were made by a large, clumsy footed animal, and the large track would be a double track of the feet on each side. This would account for the irregular shape of the tracks in some of the series. If it be asked what animal made the tracks, he must confess, he said, that he did not know. The two animals which came into his mind were the bear and the extinct gigantic ground sloth or mylodon; but here there were objections. He had looked in vain for indication of toe marks, or claw marks, in the soft mud. Still, it must be remembered that there could be found no toe marks in the elephant tracks. He had looked for indications of double tracks, and he imagined that he saw some; but again, neither could they be found in the elephant tracks except in one recently uncovered. The only answer to these potent objections seems to be the clogging of the feet by mud. Professor Le Conte intimated that the fair, impartial mind should await more evidence before coming to a final decision regarding the origin of the tracks.

A Pleasing Prophecy.

Fred Teasland prophesies that the future shooting at the range by the Reno Guard will average twenty per cent higher scores than that of the past. He says it will be due to the new cartridge that they will hereafter use. Hitherto the Lowell cartridge has been used, in which the bullet is slightly too large, causing it to crowd in the barrel of the musket. Besides, after the first reloading the metal of the shells seems to expand, so that great difficulty was often experienced in closing the breech. All these faults are obviated now by using the Winchester cartridge. In these neither the bullet nor the shell crowds the barrel, and much more accurate shooting can be done. In fact, Mr. Teasland points to the improved shooting at the range yesterday by a party who used the new cartridges and averaged far better than usual, though firing at a much smaller target. He thinks, too, by the way, that the other members of the company should evince some interest in keeping the target in trim and not let the labor of caring for it fall entirely on his shoulders.

Copper at Pyramid Lake.

The Enterprise says General Charles Forman Wednesday returned from Pyramid Lake, whither he went for the purpose of examining as an expert the Jones and Kinkead mine. General Forman gives it as his opinion that the Jones and Kinkead will develop into a copper ledge, and that it will prove to be a valuable property.

An Anti-Chinese Specimen.

It certainly seems strange that with the great show of aversion to the Chinese apparently exhibited in town, a white laundry can scarcely make a living, while four or five Chinese laundries are continually in full blast. There is a great deal of subterfuge and evasion used in this Chinese business, despicable in the extreme. The other day a friend tackled Jones, who has been one of the loudest in decrying the Chinese. "Say, Jones, why do you send your washing to a Chinaman?"

"I don't," replied Jones, and the friend began to think he had misjudged him.

A few days after he saw a Chinaman bringing Jones' clean clothes home and he immediately flared up and upbraided Jones for his falsehood. "I thought," said he, "that your clothes did not go to a Chinaman."

"Neither do I," retorted Jones. "The Chinaman comes to me and gets 'em." This is about the way in which many people in Reno don't carry their patronage to the Chinese—no, they let them come and take it themselves.

An Icy Subject.

There is one thing that Renoites ought to bless their stars for, in spite of the dull times, and that is the low price of ice. Now that the weather is sweltering, the average citizen can shut himself up in his refrigerator and watch the ice melt. With ice at a half a cent a pound it becomes one of the necessities instead of luxuries of life and the ice men are disposing of vast quantities. As an apt illustration of the recognized fact that low prices cause increased consumption, some saloons take a hundred pounds of ice per day, that would not take forty if the price were a cent instead of a half a cent. Old Solomon was right—ice is a divine luxury.

The Tramp's Haunts.

The vicinity of the V. & T. round-house is again becoming infested with tramps, especially at night. During the day only two or three can be seen sitting on the shady side playing cards, telling stories and smoking cigarettes, but after dark they seem to multiply and swarm there. Fears have been expressed by timid ladies living across the river that some harm may befall themselves or their children while crossing the bridge at night. The bridge is a thoroughfare for many people in the Haydon addition, and the scores of rough tramps that congregate around it after dark, would well terrify many less timid people.

Blasting at the Court House.

The Court House new iron fence is all in position, with the exception of a stretch of about eight feet, which can not be adjusted until several huge boulders are blasted out. Three blasts of black powder were fired Tuesday, but they only succeeded in splitting the rock without shattering it into small enough pieces to remove. A single cartridge of giant powder would do the business in first-class shape. The brick facing will soon be placed in position at the base of the railing, and then the county can boast of having a handsome, serviceable fence adorning the front of the Court House.

Accident to an Old Citizen of Truckee.

A serious if not fatal accident occurred at Truckee Tuesday. Joseph Gray, commonly known as Uncle Joe, one of the oldest and most affluent and prominent citizens of Truckee, while unloading hay, fell from an upper door of his stable to the ground, a distance of 30 or 40 feet, striking his head on the barn door. He was picked up in an insensible condition. Drs. Rhodes and Carls were summoned, the former of whom says that as Mr. Gray is quite old and very large, it will take some time to tell the true condition of his injuries.

Water in the Subsoil.

The amount of water in the subsoil, that will be met with almost anywhere in Reno, by digging a few feet, would astonish anyone never before having seen it. In excavating underneath the JOURNAL building to a depth of three and a half feet, quite a pool of water was developed. There is a ditch running between two houses fronting on Virginia street only a foot deep, yet it remains full of seepage water four inches deep, throughout the hottest weather. Why water in such quantities is met with so near the surface, it will take some geological sharp to explain.

A Blaze at Wadsworth.

Last Monday afternoon, a car loaded with tow, on a westbound freight train, caught fire in some way most probably being caused by sparks from the locomotive, and was entirely consumed, the flames having gained too much headway before being discovered. The car was derailed at Wadsworth where it burned up.

A New Pump.

The new pump at the Asylum is running nicely since it was started up last week. For some time past the old pump had been working badly and Dr. Dawson concluded to take the difficulty by the horns and put in a new one.

Death of Daisy.

Daisy, the favorite dog of Harry Clawson, was snatched away suddenly from the embraces of her five little puppies, and now lies in her grave. Just as the noon V. & T. train arrived yesterday Daisy managed to be caught and run over, the wheels mangling her badly. The poor creature was not instantly killed, so a kindly tap on the head released her from her sufferings. Harry feels all broken up over the loss, as he has had Daisy many years and only a week ago managed to carry her through a bad case of poisoning. Uncle John Richardson who saw the accident, says that the little animal was lying on the track and was caught by the train before she could escape. When the wheels ran over her the poor creature sprang upwards, and grasping the brake-beam with her teeth, held on with a death grip till she was dragged the length of a couple of cars when the train stopped. He says he could not bear to remain outside and look at the sight. Harry procured a box and buried his pet yesterday.

Lecture To-night.

Dr. York will deliver another of his course of lectures to-night at the Theater, the subject for the evening being "Self-hood or Individuality." The Doctor is a fine speaker and from the beginning to the end of his discourse holds his audience completely enthralled. He is doing a good work too, and everybody desirous of self-improvement should attend. The lecture will commence at eight o'clock sharp, and as seats are free and everyone is invited, a crowded house will be expected.

A Wash-house Cleaned Out.

There were conflicting rumors yesterday and the day before of a rumus at Wadsworth last Sunday evening, in which a party of railroad boys raided a Chinese wash-house and cleaned the establishment out, firing off pistols and behaving like a pack of cowboys, much to the terror of the Chinamen. The matter, however, seems to have been pretty thoroughly hushed and covered up, as no amount of inquiry can elicit the slightest information from any of the train men.

District Court.

Judge King held Court yesterday, and the following business was transacted:

In the matter of the estate of J. Johnson, it was ordered that a partial distribution be made, the Court also approving the report of the executors.

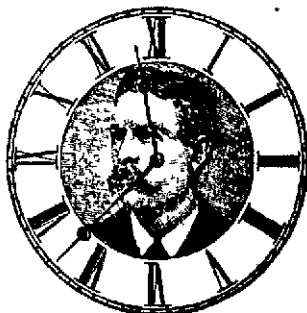

In the estate of Hepperly, an order was made ordering administrator to pay the claims of D. Bowen and Dr. Bergman. Court adjourned till next Saturday morning.

A Brakeman Hurt.

One of the brakemen on the C. P. R. R., braking on the Humboldt division, while trying to tackle and eject a tramp from the train about thirty miles from Battle Mountain, slipped between the cars and was severely injured, three of his ribs being broken and a finger badly smashed. He was taken to the Sacramento R. R. Hospital on last night's passenger train. His name could not be ascertained.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balms, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, giving relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the Throat Troubles which Sloggers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always gives perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25c a box everywhere.

The best and cheapest sewing machines are to be had all the time at Osburn & Shoemaker's.

In case of sickness you certainly save money, trouble and all by consulting the most experienced physician. You do the same by selecting the most learned and experienced watch-maker if you have a timepiece, be it a clock or a watch to repair or to buy. It also requires skill and knowledge to judge the quality of jewelry, gold-ware and precious stones, and claiming to be a specialist and brought up in this business, I can safely promise a prompt performance and strict guarantee of all articles repaired or purchased at my store.

My stock is the most select this side of Sacramento, and it will be my aim to raise still higher the standard of reputation. Respectfully,
Wm. G. Russell,
